Wretched Conditions Prevail in That Great Thoroughfare at Forty-ninth Street.

MAKING SOME IMPROVEMENT

Places Heretofore Pointed Out by The Evening World Receive the Attention of City Authorities.

The wretched condition of many of the principal streets of the city, to which he Evening World has called attention, has finally roused the ire of the Automobile Club of America, and that powerful organization has decided to organize a committee for the purpose of combating these conditions. The club to-day sent out the following letter to all of its members:

"Evry member has had occasion to observe and to condemn the extremely bad condition of some of our city streets; the paving not being kept in repair, holes dug for sub-service connections, which are left open indefinitely; openings are constantly made for laying gas and water pipes, electric conduits and sewers, and often improperly relaid; builders and others are allowed to thoroughfares become truly dan-

"Improvement of our street pave ments is a matter of great importance to our members. A bad hole or obstruction, especially when running at night, might cause great damage to a car, and even result in loss of life.

"In view of these facts a new Committee on City Streets has been appointed which will take up actively the work of bettering our street pavements, arousing the city officials and creating public sentiment for bettering streets. In this important movement it is vital that members shall give the club their hearty support. Any member who knows of any pavement in bad condition, needlessly torn up or obstructed, is requested to write the facts to the Chairman of this committee, W. W. Niles, No.- 11 Wall street, giving full particulars.
